Points of Contact

The University IT Services ("RZ") is the IT service provider for the University of Freiburg. The RZ has been the central operating facility since 1966. Since 2001, the Chair of Communication Systems has joined in, combining operational practice and scientifically based theory. We provide the IT infrastructure for the university. On our web pages you will find all information about our tasks and services.

Further instructions and information regarding our services are available in the RZ-Wiki (currently available only in German).
